The Christian's call

By William L. Trimyer
THE CALL TO CHRISTIAN CARING
Lesson for March 25, 1984
Bible Study Passage: Mark 8:27-38

INTRODUCTION

Throughout life we are confronted with questions concerning choice. At different ages and stages we are asked to choose concerning education, vocation, marriage, home, whether to have children, as well as a host of other important choices. Life is oftentimes one big question mark, one sixty-four thousand dollar question after another.

But there is another question which does not carry a price tag, and that question has to do with Christ. "Who do you say that I am?" this was the question posed by Jesus to his disciples. How we give answer to this question shapes the course of life. This was certainly true for the disciples.

Until we decide what we are going to do regarding our relationship to Christ, nothing else is ever really settled. This week's lesson looks at the importance of giving an answer to life's most important question. We will give serious thought to self-sacrifice and the "prizes of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

A decision to follow Christ in discipleship does not mean a journey free from "spills" and tragedy. It does mean that we have a constant companion who travels with us. THE ULTIMATE QUESTION (Mark 8:27-30)

It is unfortunate that many go through life without settling the question over their relationship to christ. For still others Jesus remains as a big question mark. Because they do not believe or trust, faith becomes more of an obstacle than a prize.

Jesus challenged his disciples to decide for themselves who they believed him to be. He did not treat them as puppets on a string, leading them around by the nose and making all the right moves for them. He issued a simple call to follow him in obedience to God.

The goal in life is to make Christ the exclamation mark in our life. No one can make this decision for us. We may be faced with twelve differing opinions about Christ, but it is our opinion only that matters. Such an opinion must emerge from the heart and not the head.

A SUFFERING SERVANT (Mark 8:31-33)

The disciples were naturally disappointed when they learned that Jesus would not meet their expectations of a military King-Messiah. To their utter amazement he became the Suffering Savior! When Peter affirmed Jesus as the Christ of God, the disciples began to see him in a radically different light.

The disciples watched his manner of teaching and healing and realized that the kingdom Jesus spoke of was not founded upon military might, but upon the spirit of peace and self-sacrifice. Naturally the disciples tried to throw up a road block to any notion that Jesus should suffer and die, but they would learn again and again that the road to the kingdom of God was paved with sacrified blood.

THE CALL TO DENIAL (MARK 8:34-38)

Membership in a church is not necessarily the same thing as discipleship. For some people, membership in a church is like unto a membership into a social organization. What that means is a token lip-service to the call of Christ.

Discipleship is not accomplished without personal sacrifice. We find ourselves by losing ourselves in the act of self-denial and then giving to others. To go through life without Christ is to face poverty, even if our bank account is brimming full.

Denial does not mean emptying our wallets or selling our cars as a prerequisite to discipleship. Denial of self means making Christ the focus of our life and relationships of all kinds.

Class members may discuss the following questions:

*List three things you do well. Share these with other members. Talk about how you can use those talents in ministry to others.

*What does denial of self mean to you?

*Decide how you will help someone this week.

Ag Day noted in Appomattox County

The 1984 observance of Agriculture Day was the first day of spring, Tuesday, March 20, according to James A.Smith, Appomattox County extension agent.

March 20 was the midpoint of Agriculture Week (March 16-22) in many communities, according to the Agriculture Council of America Education Exchange in Washington coordinators of Agriculture Day activities.

Last fall, Congress for the fourth consecutive year approved a joint resolution authorizing the proclamation of the 1983 Agriculture Day as an official national observance. President Reagan is expected to issue the proclamation late in the winter, the foundation said.

James A. Smith is extension agent of Appomattox County and has a number of educational materials about U.S. agriculture and the food system available for distribution in the community. They are especially designed for this observance.
